WHAT TO EXPECT WITH RATES

BY DENNIS HERMAN GENERAL MANAGER

DENNIS HERMAN

Highline Electric Association's wholesale power provider, Tri-State Generation and Transmission Association, submitted an updated wholesale rate structure to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission in early June. This rate, which is based on Tri-State's 2024 budget, represents a 6.6% average rate increase for Tri-State. While the average rate increase for Tri-State is 6.6%, the rate increase for HEA will be approximately 7.6%. HEA's rate increase is different than the average for Tri-State because Tri-State's rate filing modifies the billing based upon the load profile of each of its member cooperatives.

The best analogy that I can use to explain this change is to ask you to consider the different quantities measured by a speedometer and an odometer. While they are related, they are not the same thing. The speedometer measures how fast you're going at a given moment, while the odometer measures how far you have traveled over a period of time. In electrical billing, the speedometer is like demand or capacity, and the odometer is similar to energy. In the world of electrical metering, we relate these two quantities through the use of a concept called "load factor."

Consider the case of two cars. The first covers a 100-mile distance by traveling at a speed of 20 miles per hour for five hours. The second covers the same 100-mile distance by traveling at a speed of 100 mph for one hour. When comparing to the electrical world, the first car would be considered to have a very high load factor while the second car demonstrates a low load factor.

Now consider two electrical systems. The first delivers 100 kilowatt-hours of energy to a 20-kilowatt load running for five hours. The second delivers the same 100 kWh of energy, but this time the load is 100 kW and runs for an hour. It makes sense that it takes more investment in the second system to provide the capacity necessary to serve the load. The first example is a high load-factor load while the second example is a comparatively low load-factor load.

The adjustments made to the rate that Tri-State filed with FERC shifted some costs from high-load-factor systems to low-load-factor systems. If a Tri-State member system has a lower-than-average load factor, like HEA does, their rate increase will be higher than the average.

The rate that Tri-State filed at FERC may or may not be its final rate. There is likely to be a great deal of debate between all interested parties before the commission makes a final decision on Tri-State's rate. In fact, I won't be surprised if this process goes on for a couple of years. In the meantime, HEA will complete a cost-of-service study and rate design. The goal of the cost-of-service study is to allocate all of HEA's costs, including purchased power, to each rate class equitably. This means that the rate increase will likely be different for each rate class.

As I've mentioned here before, HEA has a significant amount of deferred revenue at our disposal that the board could decide to use to offset part of the rate increases that may be necessary over the next few years. I will continue to communicate with you over the next few months as this process plays out and we have a better understanding of HEA's 2024 rates.

WELCOME JOEL MULLER TO THE HIGHLINE TEAM

Highline Electric Association welcomes a new employee to the cooperative team: Joel Muller started his new role as apprentice lineman on June 22.

After graduating from Fleming High School, Joel attended the Western Nebraska Community College Powerline Program. After program completion, he moved back to Fleming to begin an internship at the co-op in August 2022.

Joel feels welcomed by the co-op community and crews. "The line crews at Highline are some of the kindest, coolest, and most patient guys I've met," he said. "I can't wait to start my career with them."

When he's not working, Joel likes to hunt, golf, lift weights, and spend time with friends.

Highline is excited to have you on board as its new apprentice lineman, Joel!

August Employee Anniversary

Congratulations to Highline Electric Association employee celebrating a work anniversary in July:

Jim Jackson – four years

PESTICIDE SAFETY

Highline Electric employees face serious health risks when they unknowingly enter a field that was sprayed with any chemical. Just as you would not subject your family or employees to risk, we do not want to subject our employees to risk.

If you used any chemicals on a field, please notify HEA. You may call the office or you can place a flag at the entrance to the field. Please note the day when it is safe to enter the field and what chemical was used.

Chemical notification signs and flags are available free of charge at any HEA office.

If you call to report an outage, please notify HEA if the field was sprayed.

The initial and long-term effects of absorbing chemicals in the body are extremely hazardous to one's health. Please don't subject our employees to these dangers.

HOW SMART IS A Smart Thermostat?

MYTH

VS.

FACT

My thermostat automatically saves me money.

That depends on how it's programmed and your preferences. It still uses the same amount of energy to reach and maintain temps.

A smart thermostat is smart straight out of the box.

The thermostat needs a little time to learn your heating and cooling preferences.

My thermostat is only as smart as I am.

Sort of. Most models are independent thinkers and adjust the temperature if no one's home.

It's creepy: my smart thermostat seems to know when I'm home.

It's smart for a reason! Geotechnology syncs your thermostat with your arrival. Some models use geofencing technology that tracks your smart phone location and kicks on when you're nearby.

My smart thermostat makes me smarter.

We'll give you this one! It can help you save money and make your home more efficient.

Highline Electric Association offers a $50 rebate on smart thermostats. Units must be WiFi-enabled and have learning capabilities. Visit www.hea.coop/rebates for full terms and conditions.

Highline Electric offices will be closed September 4.

DO YOU SEE YOUR NAME BELOW?

Below is a list of names of Highline Electric Association members who have unclaimed capital credits from the electric cooperative.

HEA publishes the unclaimed capital credit list every year to notify HEA members that the co-op issued them a capital credit check and that check has not been cashed.

Look for your name in the printed list below. If you're a current or former HEA member and find your name, email capitalcredits@hea.coop or call 970-854-2236.
